Where Does It All Begin? Contemporary Abstract Art in Asia and the West, Pearl Lam Galleries, Singapore

January 29, 2014

Pearl Lam Galleries' inaugural exhibition in Singapore aims to explore and refute the myth that contemporary art from Asia is dependent on Western art, while revealing and celebrating the complex and ongoing dialogue between Western and Asian abstract art. The show titled Where Does It All Begin? Contemporary Abstract Art in Asia and the West provides an opportunity to see major artists from around the world such as Pat Steir, Zhu Jinshi 朱金石, Su Xiaobai 苏笑柏, Peter Peri and Christine Ay Tjoe side by side, exploring and revealing the power of abstract art today.
